Assignment

Interview five classmates about the two following issues facing humanity in the future:

- a) Do you believe that the further growth of the world's population will lead to mass famine?
- b) What will the energy supply of the future look like?

Then report your research results to the class and comment on your survey results yourself.

Instead of pupils in your class, you are welcome to interview other pupils during the break, passers-by in front of the school or your friends and parents.
